

WallStories

At WallStories we believe every wall should tell a story, make a statement, make you think, smile or just wonder.

Like us, you are probably tired of seeing the same old uninspiring clichéd stuff in bland art shops. You want to be challenged, inspired, or just love something to death.

WallStories offer work from a range of artists around the world who just love doing their thing. It's not mass produced, it's original and full of inspiration and we're constantly updating our range, searching out those unique pieces.

One thing is for sure you won't see our stuff everywhere, though beware, your friends may also want to get hold of what you've chosen. We do sell multiple copies of some pieces (it's too good not to share) but not enough to dilute what's special about them.

We select the art, frame it and package it carefully ready to go to turn your bare walls into a story. We'll also tell you about the artist and the individual work chosen.

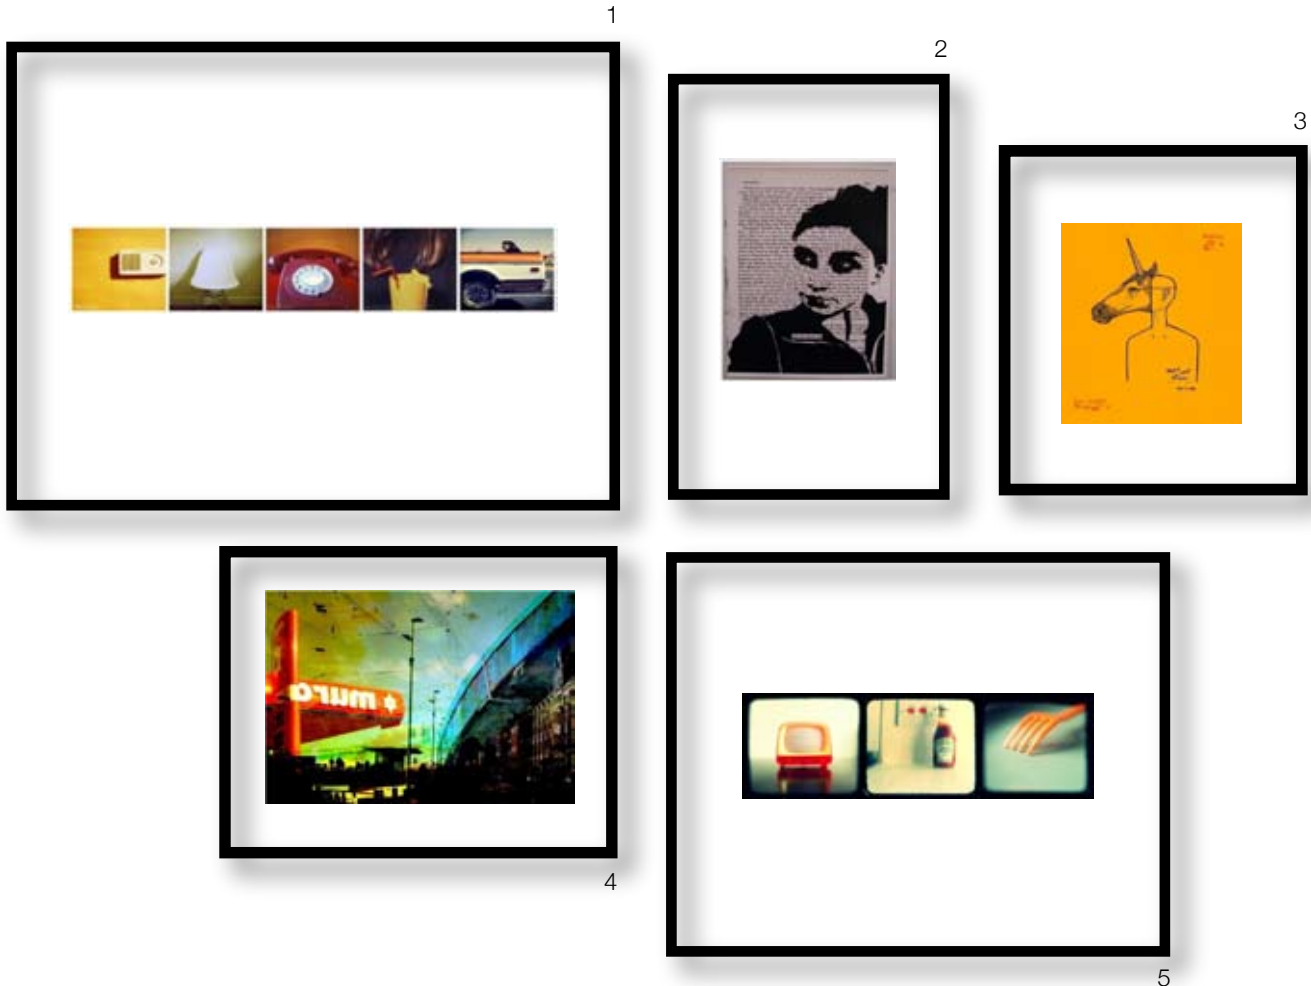

And if what you choose is not right for you we'll swap it for something else – you can even try it out for a week in your home so you'll know it's right.

WallStories - every wall should tell a story.
